

DAILY DEMOCRAT

LOUISVILLE:
FRIDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1868.

THE CITY.

Wild Game.
The market is fairly glutted with wild game of every description, and prices are quite moderate.

Larceny.
Jane Hayes, a single woman, was yesterday arrested at Louisville in the act of stealing from and robbing.

Bank and Discreet.
James Clegg was the only delinquent who showed himself at the head yesterday. He was the guest of the jail.

Shearing Affair.
Mike Ronald, for shooting and wounding Nathaniel Riley, will have a hearing before the City Court this morning.

Suspected Fellow.
Albert Johnson and Louis Locke were yesterday presented before the City Court, and held in bond of $200 for six months.

Breaking into the Brokers.
Messrs. Mendel & Co. were yesterday turned in the sum of $500, before the City Court for running a brokers' office with intent to defraud.

The Game of Love.
Stephen Bradley and Oliver Tewkesbury before the City Court, a indictment for dealing fare.

Burglars.
Paul Ronald was yesterday presented before the City Court for having burglarized tools in his possession, and held in the sum of $500 to answer.

Neurotic Burglars.
A dozen negro burglars who broke into Mrs. Lee's house, might be held in custody for a week to answer for the damage done to the property in default of $200 bond each.

Pushing Up.
The principal business thoroughfares were thronged with people yesterday, and retail business appeared very lively. We notice a great many people from the country in town.

A Quiet Day.
The city was very quiet yesterday, and we found but few arrests recorded at the jail and stations. Nothing of unusual interest occurred, and local news was unusually scarce.

A Big Scare.
The street scavengers were out in force yesterday scraping up the mud from the crossings. Their services were highly appreciated, and particularly by the ladies wearing long trains.

Another Fine.
A fire broke out on Market street, near the corner of Jackson and Madison, at about 7 o'clock yesterday morning. It was extinguished before the arrival of the engines, and the damage was slight.

Evergreens.
We noticed great wagons filled with evergreens pointing into the city yesterday, and from what we can see going on around us, there will be some extensive decorations for Christmas.

What Now?
The weather was mild, bright and pleasant overhead yesterday. Towards midnight, however, it turned quite cold, and the indications were that we would have snow before morning.

Negro Thieves.
Geo. Seay and Chas. Thompson, two negro boys, suspected of being bandits, were yesterday arrested and lodged in jail. They are believed to be a portion of the gang of colored youths who have recently been engaged in burglary and thievery.

Burglary.
The residence of Mr. Norvin Green, No. 50 West Chestnut street, was entered by a burglar just before last, and a lot of valuable jewelry stolen. Among the articles lost were a fine gold watch and chain, a lady's gold watch and a valuable diamond cluster bracelet with three diamonds.

Death to Major Crutchfield.
It will be seen by reference to our court proceedings that the boards passed a set of resolutions paying a beautiful tribute to the worth of our late esteemed fellow-soldier, Major Ed. Crutchfield, who passed from earth Wednesday night. It is an honor well merited.

The Holidays.
Our merchants have all laid in heavy stocks for the holidays, but it has been remarked that many of them are very backward in advertising their goods and placing them prominently before the people. Now is the time that our country friends are searching the columns of newspapers to find out who has the best selection.

The Masonic Record.
The December number of this first-class monthly, published and edited by Messrs. John Frazee & Co., Nashville, Tenn., is on our table. It is filled with reading matter of a tone and character that should recommend it to the best consideration of the Masonic Brotherhood, to whose interest it is more especially devoted, while at the same time its literary selections are unequalled.

An Excited Mother.
The excitement of a house on First street, near Green, caught fire yesterday morning, and the women occupying the building, and the two children in the rear window in the second story and their two children, a babe of about three months old, out. Fortunately, a man who was passing was attracted by the wild outcry of the delirious woman, and caught the babe in his arms, thus saving it from instant death. The young mother was completely drowsed from fright, and had no knowledge of what she was doing at the time.

The Southern Mats.
We have been informed that the irregularity of the mails from New Orleans, Mobile and other extreme Southern cities is due to the carelessness or failure to make connection on the part of the known, the Jackson and New Orleans Mississippian companies, as far as getting along. That there is less anxiety concerning some along the route there can be no manner of doubt, for our exchanges from the points mentioned have again failed to reach us for the last three days. We trust and believe that this cause of complaint will soon be done away with entirely.

Louisville Operahouse Third Night of Humpy Dumpty.
It is a grow fat our theatergoers will soon present a most healthy appearance, and Humpy Dumpty will be voted one of the most wonderful physicians of the day, for almost one continued roar of laughter greets his mishaps and adventures from beginning to end. Wind nor weather prevent large numbers from visiting the Operahouse each evening, and all, so far as goes and delighted with the performances.

A Rich Collection.
We are indebted to those enterprising and excellent ladies, Mrs. Wm. Romeo, Mrs. T. L. Jefferson and Mrs. Hofer, of the Masonic widows' and orphans' festival, for a rich and luxuriant collection sent to our sanctum last night. It consisted of turkey, fried oysters, jellies, sponge cake, and other choice delicacies, put up in the very best style. To say that it was fully relished by the entire company is to say nothing.

Death of Major Ed. Crutchfield.
It is the old citizens of Louisville passing before us to the better land. It is sad to know that one after another, the good, gentle, kindly and kindly disposed, and the identity of Major Crutchfield, deceased, in their loss were removed from the earth.
